MUSIC.
When life's sad dream is o'er,
Its happiness and woe;
And nature, weak and wearied out,
Has done with all below—
Sit near my couch, and while my breath
Comes feebly up, oh! let me hear
Thy voice repeat the plaintive strain
My dying hour to cheer!
Sing while my fluttering pulse
Its labor faintly plies;
Sing while my spirit hovers near,
And while to God it flies;
Let the voice that soothed my morning hours
As cheerful sound at even;
And thy music waft my soul away
To sweeter strains in heaven.

The Great Federal Victory.
[From the San Francisco Bulletin, February 17th.]

Fort Donelson is situated on the westerly bank of the Cumberland River, but a few miles south of the Kentucky line in Tennessee. It was constructed on the left bank of the river, doubtless to support Fort Henry which lies a dozen miles or so west of it on the Tennessee River. When the Union forces took Fort Henry, the enemy fled to Fort Donelson, and thither reinforcements hastened from Bowling Green and Nashville by railroad. There it was absolutely necessary that the progress of the Unionists be stopped. Nashville was in danger the day it was taken, and with Nashville taken, the rebel cause was lost in Tennessee. All foresaw then that there would, there must be a gallant defence at Donelson.

Our readers know already how promptly after Fort Henry fell our forces pushed on to Donelson. To-day we have the story of their success told us by telegraphic dispatches that left Chicago at 11 o'clock this forenoon. The story is the rehearsal of another glorious victory. The fight began on Thursday, and was continued throughout the day, with no decisive results.

At daybreak of Friday the firing from the gunboats was renewed, the enemy from the fort and from the water batteries briskly responding. At 4 P. M. the firing ceased, and by that time there were but six of the water battery guns of the rebels that were not silenced. It was a glorious day's work.

On Saturday, the black flag was plainly discernible on the fort. The rebels would give no quarter then, nor ask any—they would "die in the last ditch," but they would never surrender—that is what the black flag means, and hot war was the day's inevitable programme, for, resolute as were rebels, the fall of the fort was resolved on. The gunboats appear to have resumed their operations early, and at noon the land forces were at liberty to fall to. They stormed the fortifications on the enemy's right wing—the north-west side of the fort—and carried them. It must have been a terrible fight, for the bluff is high, the forests thick, and felled trees obstructed the approach of the assailants. The 17th and 18th Illinois regiments were sadly cut up, but apparently the courage of the dying escaped into and animated their surviving comrades. The gallant Iowa 7th, who were with Lyon when he fell at Springfield, fought bravely and suffered much loss. Saturday closed, and the work was not ended though beautifully advanced.

On Sunday (yesterday) morning the good work was completed. Generals Johnston and Buckner and 15,000 rebel soldiers were made prisoners, and the stars and stripes floated over the stronghold, to protect which Bowling Green had been evacuated.

As we have taken 15,000 prisoners, and the "gun thief Floyd," true to his instincts, stole away with 5000 men on Saturday night before the fight was over, the enemy had at least 20,000. A dispatch to Gen. McClellan from Gen. Halleck, says that, our investing force was 50,000, beside the fleet of gunboats under Commodore Foote. We had the advantage in numbers, they in position. We have no statistics of the losses. Ours naturally, we being the assailants, should be greater than theirs, though after the display of the black flag, which it is fair to presume Floyd stole and saved for future use, the greater their loss the greater their credit for the affair in the estimation of history. The importance to them of holding the position was vital, their defeat is the heaviest blow yet struck at the insurrection. It repeated dispatches that reach us of the evacuation of Bowling Green are true, Kentucky is now cleared of the enemy, except at one point only, the bluff at Columbus, on the Mississippi, and the importance of that position to them, since their flank is turned, is greatly diminished. Now, let Nashville take care of itself. It is strong, no doubt, and reinforced by so many of Buckner's men since the evacuation of Bowling Green as did not go with him to Donelson; but Commodore Foote's fleet is on the Ohio.

berland and reinforcements from Paducah were on the way to join it yesterday, while the same army that subdued Forts Henry and Donelson are at liberty to march on to Nashville which cannot be over 60 or 70 miles distant.

The three columns under Gen. Thomas, that were a while ago attempting the eastern passes of the Cumberland Mountains, with a view to meeting at Knoxville, seem, in consideration of the bad state of the passes, to have swayed to the westward, left Knoxville as of a secondary importance, and headed for Nashville. So long ago as January 10th, we had information that if Halleck's and Buell's forces could effect a junction at Nashville, they would proceed to New Orleans by the same general route that Gen. Jackson took when he rushed down upon Pensacola, Mobile and New Orleans, confronted and defeated the British expedition of 50 vessels in 1814. There is nothing now to prevent their early junction at Nashville.

Bowling Green is gone, and the war is carried down to Central Tennessee. The day of the rebels' doom swiftly approaches; the lines of fire close in upon them, day by day, from two sides—the northwest and the east; McClellan holds Beauregard and Joseph Johnston, and the great body of the Southern army "in a vice" on the Potomac; McClellan's plan of the war is complete, thorough, and the one that of all others Jeff Davis feels will be most suddenly and swiftly fatal to his wretched Confederacy.

THE FISHING GROUND OF ROCKALL BANK.—The Rockall Bank was well known some years since both to the French and Dutch as a productive fishing-ground. Its bearings were noted in the Dutch charts which were sold at Cowan; the mapseller's shop, near the Stadthouse of Amsterdam, and in which charts the western coast of Ireland, those of Scotland the Western Isles, or Hebrides, are most carefully laid down, with all the fishing banks and "busses," a sort of Dutch fishing boat, were engraven, to point out where the finest fish were found. The true bearing and soundings of the Rockall Bank were, however, never accurately laid down under the survey of Captain Vidal, R. N., in her Majesty's ship Pike, employed during the years 1830 and 1831 in the examination of the banks and soundings to the westward of the British Islands. Rockall is an isolated group of rocks in the Atlantic Ocean, situated in 57.35 north latitude and 13.40 west longitude. It bears north-west from Tory Island, off the coast of Donegal, and west by south from St. Kilda. It is about thirty hours' sail from Donegal, and about 130 miles from St. Kilda. The bank does not lie very far northerly of the line of route taken by the Canadian steamers from Liverpool to Quebec by the North Passage. There can be no doubt that a vast quantity of fish congregate about these rocks, attracted by the character of the soundings and the abundance of marine animals existing there. The fish that frequent the west coast of Ireland, as the cod, the ling, and the haddock, are there in immense quantities, as well as several species of whale and shark. The fish that puzzled Dr. Dawson is the roquai, of which two species, the greater and lesser roquai, have been seen frequently off Bala, on the coast of Mayo. The fish is very strange in appearance, and remarkable for the tufts upon its snout. The grampus is found there, as well as the blue shark.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—In all sores, wounds and sprains, Holloway's Ointment is the most efficient application. It at once gives ease by allaying inflammation, and moderating the flow of blood to the part. Whenever the malady has been of long standing, the Ointment should be assisted by Holloway's purifying Pills, which act upon the stomach and liver, guarding digestion from falling into that disordered state which the pain, restlessness, and fever attending these ailments is apt to produce, and which much retards recovery, and sometimes even makes serious the slightest case. No mother or nurse should want these noble remedies, equally applicable to all ages and constitutions. They purify the blood, regulate the circulation, renew diseased structures, and invigorate the system.

COUGH! COUGH!! COUGH!!!—In all complaints of the pulmonary organs, even when nature seems to be making no effort to throw off the disease, Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant imparts vigor to the lungs, and enables them to disengage themselves of the obstructions which prevent their free operations. Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Consumption, Pleurisy, in a word, all diseases of a pulmonary nature, yield to this preparation, if properly administered.

Sold by CURTIS & MOORE and LANGLEY BROS., Victoria.

BRONCHITIS.—From Rev. S. Seligfried, Morristown, Ohio.—"Having received the most salutary relief in Bronchitis, by the use of your excellent Troches, I write for another supply. I had tried several Cough and Bronchitis remedies, but none with a relief at all comparing with that experienced from the Troches. Brown's Bronchial Troches are sold by all Druggists."

New Currency in the United States.

Revolution in the States is not confined to armed resistance to Federal laws—pitched battles between rival factions in the Republic. The South has inaugurated one revolution on that principle. The North to suppress it has inaugurated another that may yet prove equally disastrous to the Republic by bringing about an undue expansion of the credit system which must end ultimately in a commercial revolution. The immense expense which the Federal Government has been put to to suppress the cotton and tobacco Confederacy has brought about a financial crisis.

The association of bankers of the three principal cities, with a united capital of $120,000,000, had promised to take government bonds and supply the Treasury with specie; but owing to the inactivity of Federal generals, capitalists hoarded their money—refused to invest in Federal Stocks. So it only became a matter of time who should suspend specie payment first—whether the associated bankers of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, or the National Treasury. The drain on the banks—the continual flow of specie from their vaults without a corresponding flow into them—caused them to suspend first. Such a crisis was foreseen; and from the enormous expense of the Federal fleets and armies nothing else could be expected. The Mercantile Gazette gives the following astounding figures as the daily expenses of the Federal Government. It says: "The requisitions from the Quartermaster's Department alone, as shown by Gen. Meigs's report, amount to $2,000,000 per day; the Paymaster's Department, $718,000 per day; for Commissary General's Department, $240,000; for Ordnance Department, $41,600 per day; making a total for those departments of the military service of $2,999,600 per day. To this must be added the daily disbursement for naval purposes, estimated at over $100,000, and for the civil list nearly as much more; and we have an aggregate of $3,200,000 (per day) and a grand total of $1,168,000,000 (per annum)." With an annual expense such as that on the shoulders of the nation—with a prohibitory tariff that acts as a virtual blockade of northern ports, preventing the importation of foreign merchandise on which a large revenue could be raised—with nothing general—it need not be wondered that bankers and capitalists were staggered at the prospects ahead, and preferred to suspend specie payment or hoard their money. In fact the remark was forced from Mr. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury, that "there has to be a Federal victory before national bonds can be sold." The recent victories may consequently assist to renew confidence in national stocks; but it cannot be affirmed that they are such as to raise that confidence to a very great height. There is this about the matter—the financial pressure will be likely to exercise such an influence over the Washington Cabinet as will force them to order the Federal Generals to advance—McClellan among the number. The army will have to fight to get its pay. No fighting, no pay; and no fighting and no pay would bring the civil war quickly to a close. So in the desperation of the North we may soon expect some great successes or some damaging defeats.

To provide against a financial crash slandering the republic to atoms, and to enable the Federalists to prosecute the war vigorously, the Lincoln Administration inaugurated a high prohibitory tariff. By that means it was hoped the balance of trade would be with the States—exchange in its favor;—consequently the precious metals would be kept in the country and invested in government bonds. The present Congress has marked its appreciation of such a doctrine by imposing still greater duties, and establishing an excise. But the ordinary revenues are and have been totally inadequate to meet the enormous expenses of the army and navy. Foreseeing this, before the suspension of specie payment by the associated bankers, whilst Federal Generals were inactive or unlucky, and whilst Federal bonds could not be sold, Secretary Chase broached a scheme for a new currency; not a currency based on gold and silver, as strict constructionists of the constitution affirm is the only legal currency—an interpretation in fact which Jackson put on the constitution when he vetoed the United States Bank, and opposed the decree of the Supreme Court in favor of a paper currency. It was not to be an ordinary paper currency either; but an irredeemable paper currency. Paper was to be made the measure of value; not gold and silver. Paper with pictures of Washington's head—certainly not Jackson's head—on it were to be made a legal tender everywhere throughout the United States. Soldiers were to be paid in paper; contractors paid in paper; duties and taxes paid in paper; private debts between private citizens, paid in paper; and to cap the whole the Cotton Confederacy were to be conquered with paper—by a paper currency. Paper bonds drawing 7 per cent. could not do what paper notes could do. There was no demand in the market for them. But hundreds of millions of dollars in "authenticated" notes would meet a ready demand. Such was the doctrine of the Federal Minister of Finance; and late telegrams inform us that Congress has endorsed it. Congress has made paper a legal tender for five years. The national necessity has thus overruled a strict interpretation of the constitution; and added to the nation's wealth hundreds of millions of dollars by the trifling operation of stamping paper in a certain way.

California gold mines are a trifle to this mode of getting rich. How to put the notes in circulation in this financial revolution is the question. As we understand it from the waifs that have reached us, the Federal Congress assumes the sole right to regulate the currency of the nation. A State it is said cannot, inasmuch as it can make no law to reach beyond its boundaries, notwithstanding each State has its currency, so far as bank paper is concerned. As a matter of course, a large number of bankers are as much opposed to the assertion of this dubious right as they are to the Cotton Confederacy. On that right, however, Congress provides that any banking company with a capital of $100,000, but not less, in United States Securities, can have "authenticated" notes from the Treasury to pass as a legal tender. Thus reversing the State banking systems. For under them, gold and silver could be demanded for bank notes; but under the new scheme neither gold nor silver need be paid out; but for a hundred dollar authenticated note the banker can hand back another of the same sort, or the amount in smaller notes. The object attained by the Government is simply this: They give to bankers the opportunity to draw double interest on their capital, in return for purchasing Government Securities, by means of first drawing interest on the bonds hypothecated for the notes; and secondly by the interest on the notes put in circulation. Thus the Government gives back a paper legal tender for one in coin; so that bankers may not disturb trade by allowing their specie to go into the Government coffers, and have no representative but bonds. Besides, it is argued that the issue of a legal tender paper currency based on Government Securities will insure public confidence. At any rate, such is the new currency—the financial scheme—as we understand it, with which the Lincoln administration expect to provide the "sinews of war."

It is very difficult to see anything but financial disaster flowing from the new revolution in American currency. The whole bank circulation North and South was only $195,000,000 last May. The requirements of the public service will be so much greater than the revenue will meet, that the country will be flooded with a paper currency. There will be an inflation of prices as there ever has been in the United States when the country was flooded with paper. So it is difficult to see how anything but a crash can follow an irredeemable paper currency. It will be useless to pay foreign debts. And, in all probability, will depreciate in value in spite of an Act of Congress. It is the wrong measure of value. The hard cash currency of the Pacific coast will be affected by this scheme. Some two millions were lately expected at San Francisco. So in the face of the State Constitution prohibiting banks of issue, there will be such nevertheless. Our intimate commercial relations with San Francisco and the neighboring Territory will no doubt bring some of the new currency into our market; but that will not cause much inconvenience. What is most to be feared is the inflation of prices in the Pacific States that may operate upon consumers in these colonies. However, the great repugnance which they have always manifested to a paper currency is our best safe guard.

HEALTH FOR A SHILLING!
Holloway's Pills.

Headaches, Bile, Loss of Appetite, and Lewness of Spirits.
These Pills require no interruption of business or pleasure; they act gently on the bowels, strengthen the stomach, and promote a healthy action of the liver, whereby they purify the blood, cleanse the skin, brace the nerves, and invigorate the whole system. They effect a truly wonderful change in debilitated constitutions, as they create a healthy appetite, correct indigestion, remove bile, giddiness, headaches, and palpitation of the heart.
Weakness and Debility.
In cases of debility, languor, and nervousness generated by excess of any kind, whether mental or physical, the effect of these Pills is in the highest degree bracing, refreshing, and restorative. They drive from the system the morbid cause of disease; re-establish the digestion, regulate all the secretions, brace the nervous system, raise the patient's spirits, and bring back the frame to its pristine health and vigor;
they increase the appetite, while they secure perfect digestion to all ordinary food, and release the invalid from restraint in diet.

A Word to Females.
There are two periods, especially in Woman's life, which require for safe passage, judgment and attention. Irregularity is apt at those critical times to take place, and to lay the foundation of future disease. These Pills, safe in action, and so effective in result, should be taken at certain periods, and the issue will be marvellous both to the young and the middle aged. They prevent nervousness, hysterics, drowsy-ness, and a host of similar serious disorders, by expelling all impurities from the system, therefore none should ver be without them.

Coughs, Colds, and Asthmas.
No medicine will cure colds so quickly as these Pills, when of long duration, or settled on the chest, or even though it has assumed the first stage of asthma, they may be relied on as a certain and never failing cure, particularly if the Ointment be well rubbed in the chest and throat night and morning. It catches the eye or any asthmatical person so bad as even not to be able to lie down in bed, let him well use these two preparations for only a week, and the result will be marvellous.

Blood to the Head--Diseases of the Heart.
More persons die suddenly from diseases of the heart than the ulcerous suppurations in such complaints, the bowels should always be kept well open, as also where there is a tendency of blood to the head. These celebrated Pills purify the blood in an extraordinary manner, and should be taken in cop-ious doses when such symptoms occur, taking care not to overload the stomach; by this means all danger is quickly averted.

Children's Complaints.
It is not generally known, but such is the fact, that children require medicine oftener than their parents.
Three-fourths of the children die before they attain the age of eight years. Let mothers, then, be wise, and give to their children small doses of these invig-rating Pills once or twice every week, in such quantity as may act gently upon the system twice in the twenty-four hours. For infants, a Pill may be crushed and given as a powder in a little water. The gross humors that are constantly floating about in the blood of children, the fore-runners of so many complaints, will thus be expelled, and the lives of thousands saved and preserved to their parents.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases:

Ague	Dropsy	Inflammation	Sore Throat
Asthma	Dysentery	Jaundice	Stomach and
Bilious Com- plaints	Female Irre- gularities	Liver Com- plaints	Gravel
Bleaches on the Skin	Fever of all kinds	Lumbago	Secondary Symptoms
Bowel Com- plaints	Fits	Rheumatism	Tubercu- lous
Colic	Hiccough	Retention of Urine	Tumours
Cold of the Bowels	Indigestion	Scirrhus, or Venereal Af- fection	Weakness
Consump- tion	Worms of all kinds	Scirrhus, or Venereal Af- fection	Weakness
Debility		Scirrhus, or Venereal Af- fection	Weakness

There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.
N.B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each Box.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT.

Thirty years of experience has demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt, that JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT excels every other remedy for the cure of

ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS,
CONSUMPTION,
COUGHS AND COLDS,
GROUP AND WHOOPING COUGH,
SPITTING OF BLOOD,
AND ALL PULMONARY COMPLAINTS.

While many other Remedies have been lauded and extolled, and achieved a temporary reputation, JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT has continually increased in popularity until now there is scarcely an inhabitant part of the globe where it is not used and highly appreciated. The following are a few of the many Certificates received:

REV. VALENTINE GRAY, of the Methodist Church, writes from Centerville, Pa.,

Having experienced the beneficial effects of your Family Medicines, I would give it as my opinion that they are the very best I ever had occasion to use, and most cheerfully recommend them to the afflicted. Your EXPECTORANT, especially, I have found to be a sure cure for COUGHS AND COLDS.

Dr. W. W. WINTER, of Millersville, Ill., writes:
It is with great pleasure that I can recommend your EXPECTORANT to those suffering from Bronchial Affections, having used it with the most satisfactory results.

Mr. NATHAN PENNYPACKER, of Upper Uwchland, Chester county, Pa., writes:
I have been afflicted with ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS, and the treatment of several skillful physicians proving of no avail, I commenced the use of your EXPECTO-RANT. After taking it for about three months I found myself entirely cured.

Rev. J. H. DOWLING, D. D., Pastor of the Berean Baptist Church, N. Y., writes:
I have long known the virtues of your EXPECTORANT, and frequently tested them on myself and family, when afflicted with COUGHS OR COLDS. I believe it to be one of the best remedies ever discovered for these maladies.

Mr. READING DOTT, of Twenty Mile Stand, Warren county, Ohio, writes:
Recently I had an attack of ASTHMA, the most distressing of all diseases, and yesterday afternoon, after taking a small dose, I felt relieved, and was able to breathe.
Through the persuasion of my wife I was led to try your EXPECTORANT. The first dose gave instant relief, and after the fourth dose I enjoyed a refreshing sleep, and the next morning arose in better health than for two years past.

Rev. J. J. WALKER, Missionary of the Presb. Board at Futtegurn, Northern India, says:
Your EXPECTORANT was the means under Providence of curing a case of INFLUENZA, CONSUMPTION, which had been pronounced incurable by competent medical men.

MAURICE SCHWARTZ, of Concord, Wis., says:
When the WHOOPING COUGH prevailed to some extent at our place, the disease seemed to buffet our physician. In vain was the disease the EXPECTORANT was used, and it did not fail to cure.

JOHN NARRMAN, Esq., of Stewartstown, N.H., writes:
Not long since a child of mine had a very violent and distressing attack of CROUP, which must have proved fatal had not immediate relief been obtained. I commenced giving your EXPECTORANT, and within three quarters of an hour the child had taken six teaspoonfuls, breathed with perfect ease, a cure within that time having been effected.

Rev. HENRY HANCOCK, D. D., formerly President of Waterbury College, Maine, writes:
For more than a dozen years I have recommended Dr.
JAYNE'S FAMILY MEDICINES, and especially the EXPECTORANT. I know that these medicines are highly esteemed and frequently prescribed by some of the most respectable of our regular practitioners of medicine, and I do not hesitate to commend them as a valuable addition to our medical resources, and as a safe as well as eminently beneficial remedy for the diseased.

DAVID TURNER, of Caswell, Huntington county, Penn., writes:
My son, aged nineteen years, was confined to his bed for three months, and was in a most dangerous condition. The attending physician was in doubt as to the nature of the disease, and he was in doubt as to the nature of the disease. I procured for him JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, and through its use he has been entirely restored to health.

Mr. JOHN HENRY, of Burlington, Bradford county, Pennsylvania, writes:
For two years my son was afflicted with a disease resembling CONSUMPTION, and during this period was unable to labor. Being finally induced to try your EXPECTORANT, he was completely cured after taking ten bottles, and he is now able to work every day.

Mr. GEORGE EWING, Lacotte, Harrison county, Indiana,
writes:
Being afflicted with BRONCHITIS for the space of three years, to such an extent that I was obliged to relinquish the teaching of Vocal Music, and failing to obtain any relief from the physicians whom I consulted, I gave the EXPECTORANT. After using it for a few weeks I EXPERIENCED much relief, and by its continued use my throat is at present only clear of any disease.

As this EXPECTORANT, and all of Dr. JAYNE'S FAMILY MEDICINES, are sold by CUTLIS & MOORE and LANGLEY BROS., Victoria, from whom may also be obtained gratis, Jayne's Medical Almanac and Guide to the Poor.
